

TANFORAN FURNISHES GRAND SPORT FOR ALL

By J. W. MARCHBANK

Steady strides in the production of high class thoroughbreds must accompany the expansion of the racing at Tanforan which is flourishing in more states at present than ever before. Emergence of "maidens" at ages in some instances which runners are usually retired shows the need of horses. Where is the supply to come from for all the tracks?

California is fortunately situated when it comes to raising animals that can hold their own anywhere. With Tanforan off to a good start, ample demonstration being made of the gradual improvement in the breed. Horses from various sections of the state are competing on the oval with gallopers from other commonwealths.

Last Monday at Tanforan I noted the diversity in the origin of the contestants in the interesting events. In the feature race horses bred in California, New York, Washington and Kentucky took part. That's as it should be. It is fair enough to have a race once in awhile for native sons and native daughters, but one should never forget the sport is universal in its character and consequently the vast majority of events should be open to all. Frequent restriction to horses from any one state is sheer provincialism.

Sires represented in a handicap decided the other day gave a good idea of the universality of racing. Gladiator, son of the Commando horse Superman, has blood in his veins famous for decades in this country, in England, and in Australia. Broomstick, as is well known, is of the imported Bonnie Scotland line. "Imported," as the veriest eophyte knows, is significant, as some great stallions have left the shores of the tight little isle despite the efforts of a certain class of Englishmen to keep all the good ones at home.

Bistouri was an importation of more than ordinary interest. A number of Bistouris have been racing recently at Tanforan, which makes the mention of Tracery's son quite timely. Tracery, by imported Rock Sand, from imported Topiary, was bred in Kentucky, but did his racing and duty as a stock horse abroad. So he can be classed either as English or American. Great horses have been bred in the past and just as good will be bred in the years to come, perhaps right here in California.

POPPY GIRL OF 1935

Ginger Rogers, screen star, was selected as the Buddy Poppy Girl for 1935, and is ardently boosting the campaign to sell six million poppies for the benefit of the welfare and relief work carried on by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

FINE PROGRAM IN SHOW BY FIRE DEPARTMENT

Elaborate Affair Is To Be Staged For Benefit Of Widows and Orphans

All the committees working on the entertainment of the Daly City Fire Department for the benefit of their Widows and Orphans Fund have reported everything in readiness for the big show tomorrow (Saturday) evening.

The talent committee, according to their program, has just cause to be proud of that end of the arrangements. You will have a chance to look over the program before this edition of The Record is out, as the committee placed the program in the hands of the printer last Saturday and it was ready for delivery early this week.

Do not fail to get your tickets, and come early, as the program will begin promptly at 7:45 o'clock.

Do not overlook this opportunity to show your appreciation of the service that your fire department is rendering you.

Place, Jefferson Union High School Auditorium, Saturday evening, April 27, 1935, at 7:45 o'clock sharp.

SUNDAY GAME ON HOME GROUNDS

The Daly City Tanforan baseball team will entertain the strong El Rey Beer nine, Sunday afternoon at the Jefferson High School diamond. The game will start at 2:15 o'clock.

Much interest has been manifested in this game, as the visiting team has toured the state, meeting some of the strongest of the semi-pro nines, and has been quite successful against the opponents. A good game is assured the fans.

HIGH COURAGE CHIEF TRAIT OF GOLD MINER

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

I read the other day in "Gold," a sprightly monthly published in Toronto:

"Guts and Gold! A strong title on a strong subject. From the annals of time immemorial gold has been associated with brave men who risked their lives in search of it. Nature has made it so and gold is not to be had for the taking in sunny climes where comfort is paramount."

The ringing message, as the editor of the magazine says, is from the pen of Edward Green, a writer who chronicles the deeds of men in search of new mines in Northern Manitoba. Green is an optimist who holds the belief that Canada will soon be the greatest gold producing country in the world.

It is pertinently pointed out that the whole saga of gold is one of guts and that an hour's thought will show no one can picture in type the glorious fight going on day after day in the outlying places of the earth.

The editor of "Gold" is as confident as I have been for some time that the price of the yellow metal is going up still further. He writes in incisive manner:

"Let's stop talking taxes and listening to obvious propaganda. Let us see the doughnut, not the hole! Any mining man, investor or shareholder who is not satisfied with the actualities and possibilities of gold mining today simply cannot be satisfied. And the far-sighted man can hardly avoid being sanely optimistic as to the future price of gold."

I am convinced more than ever it will not be long before gold goes up to $41.34 an ounce.

The industry was built up on $20.67 gold and, as has been said more than once, one could hardly dare think of $35.00 gold two years ago.

No one should go north who is not financially able to take care of himself for at least a year or until he gets a good start. That Alaska is THE Land of Opportunity is admitted by experts everywhere. Some of the Alaskans go so far as to say they would rather stay up there all their lives than live "Outside." Z. J. Lousac, a pioneer business man of Alaska, recently said to a reporter for the Alaska Weekly:

"Why, up there, you know, we have never known a depression—that is, the way it has affected people in the eastern part of the United States, which I have just visited."

"It's a trite phrase to say that 'Alaska has not been scratched so far,' but it is a true saying nevertheless. Only a few years ago no one knew that placer platinum existed in paying quantities anywhere in the North. Last year, one outfit moved a plant in, set it up and took out about $85,000 in about two months operations. That was a new development—one never suspected."

Lousac truly remarked that Alaska needs new blood and many of the farmers who go north, as in the carrying out of the federal government plan of colonization in the Matanuska Valley, with the sincere intention of tilling the soil will develop into prospectors. Their sons will be prospectors, too. History shows the bulk of the prospectors in the old days came from the farms of the West and the Middle West.

RADIO STUDIOS TO BE INSTALLED

Elaborate Preparations Are Made For Broadcasting At Exposition

Construction of broadcasting studios to house technical equipment and staff personnel of the principal radio networks represented in America's Exposition opening at San Diego on May 29, will start immediately. Clyde Vandenberg heads the exposition's radio division.

Networks will release a number of nationally known and special programs from this point and exhibitors are planning additional shows during the exposition.

The radio building will have two broadcasting studios, which may be used simultaneously, one 17 by 21 and the other 40 by 25 feet in size. Each of these will have glassed fronts, permitting visual enjoyment by audiences on the grounds while radio programs are being presented.

Housed in the radio building will also be the exposition's elaborate public address system, which will also be equipped that it may be used to pick up programs anywhere on the grounds for national radio dissemination.

TANFORAN WILL REOPEN COURSE ON SATURDAY

Haggin Handicap Will Be Featured Contest For Reopening Date

Tanforan reopens Saturday, April 27, with a brilliant program headlined by the $2000 added Haggin handicap and supported by races designed to bring out every ranking thoroughbred on the grounds. The racing strip will be in perfect shape for the "new inaugural" of the historic course, which has been completely rebuilt this season.

The Haggin handicap, fashioned for three year olds at a flat mile, will bring together one of the finest fields which ever pounded the turf at this course.

Toro Flight reigns as the pre-race favorite. Ranked as one of the best three year olds of the Santa Anita meeting and victorious in the California Derby at Bay Meadows, this fast son of the famed Toro is training in splendid fashion at Norman W. Church's ranch at San Jose.

Toro Flight is considered a much better three year old than his stablemate, Toro Nancy, which vanquished a crack field of juveniles in the Arlington Futurity last year.

Arrayed against the Church star will be a dazzling field of three year olds, including R. D. Powers, Lady Bowman, Fort Spring, Sickle Bill, Bon Amour, Light Brook, Shining

OPEN CAR DOOR INJURES COUPLE

Pair Sustain Hurts When Hurlled Onto Road From Speeding Automobile

Mike Allsara and George Poolozo of Salada Beach were treated at the Villa Sanitarium, Sunday evening, for injuries sustained in a freak automobile accident.

The two men were passengers in a car driven by A. Bozolini of Salada Beach. The door of the car suddenly flew open as the machine rounded a curve on the coast road at Brighton Beach, and the men were precipitated onto the road.

Allsara suffered a dislocated shoulder and Poolozo sustained cuts and bruises. The two men returned to their homes after being given treatment at the hospital.

SUPERB TREAT FOR LOVERS OF DICKENS' WORKS

Delightful Characters From "David Copperfield" Live Again On Screen

With an all-star cast fairly scintillating with "big names," one of the most elaborate screen presentations of recent years will play Sunday and Monday, April 28 and 29, at the Daly City Theater.

It is "David Copperfield," Charles Dickens' favorite novel, which comes to life with its myriad of interesting characters through the medium of the films.

Reproduced with fidelity from Dickens' best-loved story, filmed both in England and in Hollywood, the picture has proven one of the most sensational hits of recent years.

Sixty-five stars and featured players make up the "key" characters of the cast.

W. C. Fields creates the immortal Wilkins Micawber, Esq., the improvi-

W. C. Fields and Freddie Bartholomew in "David Copperfield" dent but happy wastrel who is "always expecting something to turn up."

Frank Lawton, who distinguished himself in "Calvalende," plays the adult David Copperfield, and the child role is played by one of the brilliant juvenile discoveries of recent years, a ten year old lad named Freddie Bartholomew.

China Night will be held on Thursday, May 2.

CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION IS STARTED HERE

Officers Are Selected And Arrangements Made For Sessions In Future

A successful and enthusiastic beginning was made in the organizing of a Co-operative Association in Daly City at a recent meeting of citizens.

At the first official meeting of the association temporary officers were elected and it was voted to make arrangements for a public meeting to be held in the Daly City Auditorium on Wednesday evening, May 1, at 8 o'clock, to which the public is invited.

Speakers for that evening will be secured from the headquarters of the California Co-operative Association in San Francisco. Those attending are assured of an interesting and educational lecture on the co-operative movement in the United States and other countries.

FORMER DALY CITY RESIDENT PASSES

Herman Atkins of Mission street, San Francisco, who formerly resided on Los Olivos avenue for several years, passed away Saturday afternoon in the San Francisco Hospital after three weeks illness.

The funeral was held from the Hebrew funeral parlors in San Francisco Sunday afternoon. Interment was at Eternal Home Cemetery.

Mr. Atkins leaves a wife, Lena Atkins, and eight children to mourn his loss.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

Mrs. Pete Dormoy of Mission circle entertained a number of friends, on Thursday of last week, during the afternoon and evening, celebrating the twenty-nine years after the San Francisco earthquake and fire.

Many narratives of that day were told. Mrs. Dormoy relating her experience of pushing a wheelbarrow up Geary street with her belongings.

MERRIAM WILL BE HONOR GUEST AT RECEPTION

Leaders In County Political And Civic Affairs Will Gather At Dinner

Tomorrow (Saturday) evening Governor Frank F. Merriam will speak before San Mateo County civic and political leaders, at a dinner to be held in his honor at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in San Mateo. This dinner will begin promptly at 6 o'clock.

Mayor Frank Simmen of San Mateo will be toastmaster and will introduce the governor, who, it is expected, will address the assemblage on state affairs of interest to San Mateo County. Those attending the dinner will be afforded an opportunity of meeting Governor Merriam, who is now concerned with one of the most important legislative sessions ever held in California.

On the reception committee are Mayor Simmen, Mayor C. A. Buck and A. B. Cargill, both of Burlingame.

Following the dinner at the hotel, Governor Merriam will go to the San Mateo Junior College, where he will present the Burlingame-San Mateo-Hillsborough 1934 Community Service Award to David McCullough, war veteran and civic leader of San Mateo.

The presentation ceremony will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and will be open to the public.

EXAMINATION ON THE CONSTITUTION

There will be an examination on the Constitution on Saturday morning, May 25, at 10 o'clock, in the Central School, Redwood City.

Any teacher desiring to take this examination to meet certification requirements may do so at that time, states Pansy Jewett Abbott, county superintendent of schools.

DANCE BY GIRLS CLUB

A sport dance will be given by the newly organized Daly City Girls Club at the Daly City Auditorium on Saturday evening, May 18.

The music will be furnished by the "Rhythm Boys." A good time has been promised all who attend.

PEDESTRIAN ON HIGHWAY KILLED

Automobile Strikes Man As He Walks Directly Into Path Of Vehicle

James McLeod, 55, a carpenter of San Francisco, was killed last Friday evening, a short distance south of San Pedro avenue on the Junipero Serra boulevard, by an automobile driven by Robert Jeffres, 50, Eleventh avenue, San Francisco.

Jeffres, in his statement to Deputy Sheriff G. Krehl and Traffic Officer Otto Schramm, claimed that McLeod walked directly into the path of his machine. He said he was unable to avoid the accident.

The remains of McLeod were removed to the W. C. Lasswell undertaking establishment. Luella D. Pepper, deputy coroner, took charge and notified the widow, Mrs. Julia McLeod of her husband's death.

Deceased is survived by his widow, two sons and a daughter.

Jeffres was released on his own recognizance.

BAYSHORE RECALL PETITION FILED

The Bayshore recall battle was stirred to fever heat today when notice of intention to recall was placed against Councilmen Homer C. Thomas and Frank B. Johnston.

Less than three weeks ago recall proceedings were instituted against the other three members of the council by a group supposedly backed by the garbage interests.

Edward H. Schwerin Jr., president of the Bayshore Chamber of Commerce, and who is one of the group demanding the recall of Johnston and Thomas in the latest move, said he could see no reason for holding three members of the council responsible for the actions of the entire board, and that as far as obstructionists go he thought Thomas and Johnston had few peers along those lines.

Schwerin admitted that the recall of Johnston and Thomas was the opening move in a battle to drive the garbage dumpers out of Bayshore.

CELEBRATION OF MAY DAY DURING COMING MONTH

Wreathing Of Maypole And Choosing Of Queen Are Old Custom Revival

(By Maude Larue Ives)

In the temperate zones, May is one of the most beautiful months of the year; the cold and rigor of winter have gone and the unpleasant heat of summer has not yet begun, while vegetation is at its richest and loveliest. As to the derivation of the name of this month, there has been considerable controversy. Perhaps the weight of opinion rests with the theory that the month was named for Maia, the Roman goddess of spring and of increase, but some scholars hold that May is but a shortened form of Majores, and that the month was so called because it was sacred to the older men, as June was sacred to the young men, or juniors. The flower of the month is the hawthorn; its special gem is the emerald.

May is the fifth month in the year. Originally it was the third, but when the Romans placed the two newly added months, January and February, at the beginning of the year May took its present place. It has always been one of the long months, possessing thirty-one days.

From the very earliest times, the first day of May has been a time for out of door festivities. In Rome it fell within the period which was sacred to Flora, goddess of flowers, and flower decked processions were common on that day. In England, during medieval and early modern times, the customs connected with May Day, as the first of May is called, were interesting and beautiful. On the night before the children and young people were all excited, for the Maypole had been erected on the village green, the gayest finery had been made ready, and every girl went to bed hoping that she might be chosen "May Queen." In the morning there was the procession to the woods to bring home the "May" or hawthorn blossoms, and with these the Maypole was wreathed. The "queen," chosen by popular vote, set up her court in a little flowery bower, which she left at times to dance with her loyal "subjects."

Tennyson's "May Queen" gives a picture of these rural pleasures.

In recent times the Maypole festivities have had a revival. Many schools observe May Day by giving festivals and attempting to reproduce, so far as possible, the music, the steps, and even the costumes, of the dancers of earlier times.

In the United States, a generation or two ago, there prevailed the custom of "hanging May baskets" on the evening of the first of May. Little baskets, elaborate or simple, costly or of home manufacture, were filled with wild flowers and hung upon the door knobs. It was a point of honor, as in the giving of valentines, for the donor to slip away without being discovered.

Both Canada and the United States have one important holiday in May. In Canada this is the twenty-fourth, and is known as Empire Day. It is set aside as a memorial to Queen Victoria, whose birthday fell on that date. In the United States the thirtieth of May is sacred to the memory of soldiers who had fought in their country's wars and is known as Decoration Day or Memorial Day.

"When April steps aside for May,
Like diamonds all the rain drops
glisten;

Fresh violets open every day;
To some new bird each hour we listen."—Larcom.

CHRISTEN YOUNG SON OF RESIDENTS

Henry John Hutchings, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Hutchings of Westlake avenue, was christened on Easter Sunday morning at Good Samaritan Episcopal Church at Potrero avenue and Twenty-fifth street in San Francisco by Rev. J. P. Turner.

On Sunday afternoon a dinner was given in his honor at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. A. Cameron Sr., of Vista Grande avenue.

THREE YEAR OLDS TO BE FEATURED AT HOME TRACK

Some Of Best Young Racers
Now Competing Are To Start Here Saturday

Three year olds will match strides for the western crown here Saturday, April 27 (tomorrow), in the $2000 added Haggin handicap. The race is at a flat mile and will bring together one of the finest fields in modern California turf history.

Toro Flight, victorious in the California Derby at Bay Meadows recently, will defend his title against an imposing array of stars which will include R. D. Powers, Lady Bowman, Fort Springs, Sickle Bill, Bon Amour, Light Brook, Shining Jewel, Carmanchita, Nubs, Barcarolle, Sand Cloud, Kent, Easter Tommy, Happy Helen and Squeezer.

Owned by Norman W. Church, Toro Flight is training in impressive fashion at Church's San Jose ranch. The fast son of Toro, now ranked as a better three year old than Toro Nancy, winner of the Arlington Futurity last year, is being put on edge by Trainer E. L. (Woody) Fitzgerald.

R. D. Powers, which raced sensationally as a two year old at Tanforan last year, is expected to put up a great battle. He has had only three starts as a three year old. He was unplaced at Santa Anita, then he scored a smashing triumph in his next start at Bay Meadows and was out of the money in his last outing when off-track conditions prevailed. This will mark his first meeting with Toro Flight.

Railbirds regard Sand Cloud as the "dark horse" of the three year old division. A. A. Baroni, the Reno turfman, claimed him for $3000 last year and promptly bagged two handicaps with him in the East against first class competition. Sand Cloud has never started as a three year old, but his training moves have been highly convincing. Baroni took Top Row for $3500 and made him a sensational performer. Clockers believe he has another Top Row in Sand Cloud.

The other probable starters have turned in smart workouts and the Haggin shapes up as one of the outstanding stakes of the season.

The event was named for J. B. Haggin, whose Rancho del Paso, near Sacramento, was one of the most famed farms of the world. Here stood forty stallions and two thousand brood mares.

HOUSE PARTY SUPPER

Mr. and Mrs. F. Thompson of Hanover street, were hosts at a house party in their home last Saturday evening. Dancing was the chief amusement.

At midnight a supper was served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. A. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. W. McNaughton, Mr. and Mrs. A. Dovey, Mrs. N. Townsend and Mr. F. Frazier.

Priscilla Thimble Club Meet

The members of the Priscilla Thimble Club met at the home of Mrs. Genevieve Linser on Irvington street on Wednesday last.

The hostess served luncheon to the following guests: Mesdames Elsie Lewis, Nancy Hurley, Jean Nordgren, Elsie Ireton, Camille Beckett and Ethel Dorn.

Spare The Animals

Thousands of animals and birds are victims of the automobile annually. Many of these fatalities are unavoidable, but the number can be greatly reduced if every motorist will take it upon himself to exercise slightly more than reasonable care when his path is obstructed by a dog, cat, rabbit, squirrel or chicken.

KETTNER

This signature is familiar to you if you follow the cartoons that appear regularly in this paper and if, by any chance, you are not following them, you are missing something.

Kettner ranks as one of the great cartoonists of the country. His cartoons reflect an unusual insight into human nature and an extremely keen sense of humor. There is never a sting or an unpleasant suggestion in any of them, but there is always an idea or a thought that is worth while.

We are glad to be able to give our readers this splendid feature. We know that you always find it pleasant to spend a minute or two with

KETTNER COLONISTS ON WAY TO ALASKA

One hundred and twenty men, selected from transient rolls all over the country are to embark soon on the army transport St. Mihiel from a northern port en route to the Manataska Valley in Alaska.

The men, led by George U. Bliss, assistant to Don Irwin, head of the Manataska Valley project, will have 1900 tons of freight ranging from mattresses to trucks, to prepare the way for the 200 farming families to follow them during the next two weeks.

A number of men departed from this port early Wednesday morning of this week to join the expedition, aboard the steamer North Star, supply ship of the Department of the Interior.

Juneau and Seward will be the only points touched on the trip by the North Star until the government owned railroad leading into Palmer, site of America's first extraterritorial settlement project, is reached.

PARENT TEACHERS HONORED BY VISIT

P. T. A. District Presidents
Meet With Members Of Local Unit

The regular meeting of the Woodrow Wilson-Vista Grande P. T. A. was held in the Woodrow Wilson school on Wednesday afternoon. The unit was honored by the visit of our outgoing district president, Mrs. J. J. Garland, and the new district president, Mrs. R. D. Richards. Mrs. Garland gave us a very good talk on "Developing the Creative Arts." She was much impressed with the entertainment which was given by the Girls Glee Club and the Boys Glee Club. The Thiele sisters played a piano solo.

Mrs. Barker gave a very interesting report of the district convention. The recreation work being done in the schools by the units of Daly City was given due recognition at the convention. We now have a membership of 115 in this unit. Our officers for the next year will be installed by Mrs. J. J. Garland at the Jefferson Union High School on Wednesday evening, May 15th with the units of the Jefferson district.

All members are urged to help make the whist being held May 2 for a disabled teacher, a grand success. The public is urged to attend. Our president, Mrs. Jones will go to the state convention at San Diego as our representative.

BOYS FOLLOW CCC

Donald Foss of Los Banos avenue and Clayton Dillon of Knowles avenue, who have been located at the CCC camp at Holt, moved with their camp, the latter part of this week, to Black Desert Camp in Nevada.

After a short stay there, the boys expect to move on into Canada.

TANFORAN WILL REOPEN SATURDAY

Jewel, Carmanchita, Nubs, Barcarolle, Sand Cloud, Kent, Easter Tommy, Happy Helen and Squeezer.

The Haggin will mark the meeting between Toro Flight and D. Powers. The latter was ranked the best juvenile in western racing last year. He soundly trounced Luis Rey and other corkslingers at Tanforan. He only stood once as a three year old at Tanforan and was "short" for the gagement. Then he scored a stringing win over clever company at Meadows on a fast track. He was in his next outing at Bay Meadows when off-track conditions prevailed. He will be at his best Saturday.

SIXTH ANNIVERSARY LODGE INSTITUTE

The members of Hillcrest Lodge No. 143, U. A. O. D., celebrated sixth anniversary of their institution at a banquet in Gary's Restaurant, Bay and Taylor streets, San Francisco, Wednesday evening of last week. About 35 members were seated for a chicken dinner at an artistically decorated table, the center piece of which was a beautiful birthday cake with six candles. After the dancing was enjoyed.

Back To Old Location

The Signal Barber Shop, which has been temporarily located for several months at 6303 Mission street, moved on Wednesday evening of this week back to the old location at 6283 Mission street.

Patrons will receive the same courteous service and good workman which has made this establishment popular for many years.

RECOVERY MARCHES ON

Newspapers throughout the country continue to emphasize the improvement in business. Not only editorial discussions, but news stories reflect the decrease in unemployment, increase in industrial production and in wages, improved retail and wholesale trade, better income among farmers and greatly increased net income among corporations, all of which combine to restore the standard of living to the level to which people were accustomed in the days before the depression.

The following editorial from the Houston, Texas, Post is typical of those reflecting the new optimism: "Recovery marches on. It may not be a quickstep, but neither is it marking time. It goes forward, a number of reliable economic sources indicate, in measured tread.

"Among these sources to be depended upon to reflect the economic complexion of the country are:

"First, the Department of Commerce reports its index of industrial production is up by nearly two points from January to February, up nearly 20 points since last September.

"Second, the Department of Labor shows 200,000 more persons at work last month than in the previous month, an increase of 2.3 per cent, while pay rolls rose 7.8 per cent, the second largest gain for the month in 16 years.

"Third, the National Industrial Conference Board reports a moderate brightening in its composite picture of business and industrial conditions.

"Taken together, and compared with Relief Administrator Hopkins' statement of a reduction in February of 4000 families and single persons on relief rolls, these indices offer a distinct note of hopefulness to those with their fingers on the national pulse.

"Nor should the hearty increase in income tax collections be overlooked in scanning the economic horizon.

"Such signs should serve as a stimulus to lines of American business that are still lagging and uncertain of the future. A case in point: The motor car industry launched out at a period of uncertainty to step up production, and today the automobile industry is the brightest spot in the economic picture. On the contrary, the building trades hold back and it remains today the larkest smudge on the brightening scene.

"This nation was built upon confidence."

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK

Upswing To Continue, Says U. S. Chamber: The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, looking upon business conditions generally, finds reason to believe that the first quarter upturn in industrial production of "at least 10 per cent" is continuing in some measure into the spring. At the same time, an increase of $3,000,000 in total bank deposits during the last half of 1934 was reported by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

This represented a gain of 9 per cent in deposits from June 30 to the end of December. The Chamber of Commerce declared that "at the beginning of April there is apparent some hesitation, such as developed temporarily in February, but with the difference that seasonal influences for some advance are now more patent than in midwinter." Conditions are spotty, with considerable irregularity in different areas, the chamber reported, but "there is also evidence that the general level of business activity continues above the level at the beginning of the second quarter of 1934."

NIRB Reduces Use of Textile Machines: Because of the crisis in the cotton textile industry, which is regarded as threatening to impede national recovery, the NIRB has authorized some branches of the industry to reduce hours of machine operation by not more than 25 per cent and to reduce by not more than 25 per cent the machines operating in these groups or divisions. The groups affected will go on a curtailed week, but now below 30 hours, while the use of productive machinery, now on an 80 hour basis of two shifts, will go down to not less than 60 hours. The emergency period is for 12 weeks. The action taken by NIRB followed recommendations of the Textile Planning Committee, created some weeks ago when it became apparent that the textile industries of the nation faced a grave emergency due to abnormally restricted demand for cotton textiles. The industry, it was said, was in jeopardy owing to the doubling of the price of raw cotton and the adding of the cotton processing tax, the decrease of exports, the recent unprecedented and alarming increase of imports, especially from Japan, and the danger of an imminent price collapse of the domestic product.

Montgomery Ward Company Lose NRA Blue Eagle: Montgomery Ward & Co., one of the country's largest mail order houses, has been deprived by the NRA of the right to display the Blue Eagle. The action was taken because of the alleged failure of the company to pay its equitable share of the cost of administering the Retail Code. A letter from the NRA also notified the company that it would no longer be on the list of

SYNOPSIS OF THE LIFE OF HANDEL

The artist, Margaret Dicksee, has painted a picture of a little child, in white cap and night dress, seated before a clavichord. There in the old attic, the lad plays on, filling the cobwebby silence with low sweet music of a classic nature produced by his tiny fingers as they wander caressingly over the keys. With lantern held high, father Handel peers disapprovingly through the dusty gloom, while in the doorway the mother and other members of the household, fearing what may come to pass, watch and listen in the doorway.

George Frederick Handel lived many years, ago, between the years 1685 and 1759, a German composer whose immortal oratorio, "The Messiah," will never be forgotten.

Handel was born at Halle, in Saxony, Germany. His father was determined that the son should study law, but the boy was equally determined to devote himself to music. Through the help of a friend, George secretly had a clavichord placed in his attic bedroom, and there, at night, he made himself proficient by hours of practice. His mother's encouragement and love, followed by tearful pleadings to the father in George's behalf, did much to soften the old man's heart. He decided that his son was too absorbed in music to ever become a successful lawyer.

At the age of twelve Handel made his debut as a performer at the court of Berlin. Later he played in orchestras at Hanover and Hamburg, and his first two operas, "Almoro" and "Nero," were performed in the latter city. In 1706 he left for Italy, to study, where he remained three years. It was during this time that Handel's Italian style reached its full maturity, and his name became widely known throughout the musical world.

The musician went to England, where he remained the greater part of his later life, becoming a naturalized citizen. But it was not until after his appointment as head of the Royal Academy of Music that he changed his style from opera to the composition of oratorios and produced in succession "Israel in Egypt," "L'Allegro" and "Il Penseroso," "Saul," "Samsom" and many other English oratorios.

Handel, composed forty-two operas before writing "The Messiah," which was brought out in 1741 for the benefit of the Foundling Hospital in Dublin. It is said that at a later London performance, when the "Hallelujah Chorus" was reached, King George II, moved by pious emotion, rose to his feet, an action promptly followed by everyone in the house. To this day it is a generally observed custom for audiences to rise when this chorus is being sung. No choral festival is considered complete without some reminder of the "The Messiah."

Handel worked almost to the day of his death, for not even his blindness, during his last six years, could daunt his energy. He was buried in Westminster Abbey.

COMPARING SPEEDS OF WALKING AND DRIVING

A man walking briskly goes only about four miles an hour, or slightly less than six feet a second, whereas a car running at only 20 miles an hour covers slightly more than 29 feet a second—five times as fast as a man walking. When a car speeds up to 40 miles an hour it is moving ten times as fast as a man on foot. So it is at once apparent how rapidly a car overtakes a pedestrian.

Remember, you never act instantly! Between the time you think you will put on the brakes and the time you actually do it, you will travel 22 feet if you are going at only 20 miles an hour. And you will go another 22 feet before you can stop. Therefore, anything that appears less than 44 feet ahead is almost certain to be hit. If the car is going at 40 miles an hour it travels 45 feet during the brief period of mental and physical reaction and 88 feet after the brakes are applied—a total of 133 feet. The greater the speed, the more the danger zone is extended ahead of the car.

Roman goddess of spring, but some scholars say May is but a shortened june, and that the name was called because it was older men, as June was young men, or juniors of the month is the special gem is the emerald.

May is the fifth month. Originally it was the third. The Romans placed the added months, January and February, at the beginning of the year. It took its present place. It was one of the long months, thirty-one days.

From the very earliest times, the first day of May has been out of door festivities. It fell within the period of the Floralia, goddess of flowers, decked procession on that day. In England, medieval and early modern customs connected with the first of May is called May Day, interesting and beautiful. Before the children and young people were all excitement, for it had been erected on the day of the gayest finery had been ready, and every girl was hoping that she might be "May Queen." In the morning was the procession to bring home the "May" blossoms, and with these it was wreathed. The "queen" by popular vote, set up in a little flowery bower, where at times to dance with "subjects."

Tennyson's "May Queen" picture of these rural pleasures. In recent times the May Day activities have had a revival. Schools observe May Day, festivals and attempting to go so far as possible, the steps, and even the costumed dancers of earlier times.

In the United States, two or three years ago, there prevailed a "hanging May" ball, evening of the first of May, baskets, elaborate or simple, of home manufacture, were wild flowers and hung up knobs. It was a point of honor in the giving of valentines, donor to slip away without covered.

Both Canada and the United States have one important holiday. In Canada this is the two day and is known as Empire Day, whose birthday is date. In the United States, the tie of May is sacred to the soldiers who had fought country's wars and is Decoration Day or Memorial Day. When April steps aside for Like diamonds all the glister;

Interesting to Trace

Evolution of the Horse

Originally a marsh dweller, the horse became a forest browser, and then an animal of the plains, and great changes in structure took place. The toes changed in accordance with environment, the central ones developing and the side ones fading away as the horse became an animal of open country, while the teeth changed as it abandoned soft leaves for hard grass. In its embryonic state traces of the lost toes are still visible. The single toe of today corresponds to the third or middle toe of a five-toed foot, and only its last joint touches the ground. The enclosing hoof is equivalent to an overgrown toe-nail. No other vertebrates have feet with but one toe each, and no animals have the peculiar teeth of the horse's most efficient grinders. Over 200 species of horses have been distinguished. It was probably from the heavy Mongolian wild horse, the tarpan, that the British shire horses were derived, including the pigmy Shetland pony, while our racehorses probably came from an extinct type of Indian horse, by way of the Arab.

Cleanse the Blood

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering impurities from the blood stream. But kidneys get functionally disturbed—lag in their work—fail to remove the poisonous body wastes.

Then you may suffer nagging backache, attacks of dizziness, burning, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains; feel "all worn out." Don't delay! For the quicker you get rid of these poisons, the better your chances of good health.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They tend to promote normal functioning of the kidneys; should help them pass off the irritating poisons. Doan's are recommended by users the country over. Get them from any druggist.

GOLDEN DAWN

SYNOPSIS

Theodore Gatlin adopts a baby, "Penelope," in an effort to solve his matrimonial troubles. But his wife has never wanted her, and their affairs end in the divorce court. At a baseball game a ball strikes ten-year-old Penelope on the nose. Mrs. Gatlin splits the child to Europe. Gatlin wills Penelope all his money, and is about to begin a search for her when a motor accident ends his life. Some ten years later, in San Francisco, Stephen Burt, rising young psychiatrist, is presented by Dan McNamara, chief of police, with a new patient—Nance Belden, a girl with a dual personality, for which her "saddle nose" is in part responsible. McNamara does not think she is a criminal and obtains Burt's testimony in court. Lanny, the doctor's office nurse, is also won over. Nance's criminal record outweighs Doctor Burt's explanation of her case and she is sent to San Quentin penitentiary. Nance escapes, although shot, and goes to Lanny's apartment, from which, by McNamara's orders, she is removed to the chief's home. From one of the men in the boat on which the girl escaped McNamara learns that Nance's real name is Penelope Gatlin. He also discovers that she is heiress to $750,000. Fearful of McNamara, in his official capacity, Nance flees. Lanny finds her in her apartment, asleep. Knowing detectives are on her trail, she disappears, and McNamara learns that she has sailed for France.

"Santa Claus has been good to you two, hasn't he? Well, are you both willing to go back to your regular jobs now?"

Flynn threw the money on the chief's desk. "We swore an oath—" he began, but McNamara cut him short. "So have I!" he reminded Flynn fiercely.

"We know every move you've made in this case," Flynn shouted. "And I knew every move you were going to make before you made it."

Angellotti tucked his present in his pocket. "Come on, Flynn," he urged. "I can't be called off for money."

Flynn persisted stubbornly. "Dan McNamara swept the money on his desk into the drawer. The widows and orphans of the Policemen's Benevolent and Protective association will be glad to get this. On your way—and your oath."

Flynn sighed deeply and went out. Fifteen minutes later he came back and said humbly: "Chief, I've changed my mind."

Alas! McNamara was Irish, too. He glanced at the clock. "You're fifteen minutes late, so I'll fine you two hundred and fifty dollars for tardiness and impudence and disloyalty and house-breaking."

"I'll get you for this, McNamara!" "I don't think so. My advice to you, Pat Flynn, would be to quit monkeying with TNT. I've known detective-sergeants to be taken for a ride."

"Threatening me, eh?" "Not at all. I wouldn't harm a hair of your red head—and by the way, red hair in the Irish is a sign that they breed back to the Danes and Swedes. A pure-bred Irishman would know enough to lay off a girl with powerful and implacable friends. All you were after was a hundred and twenty-five dollars—half the state reward for recapturing that girl—and when she sends you double that you're not sport enough to meet her half-way."

"I took an oath," Flynn mumbled. "You should have taken a physic."

"Well, I did take an emetic. Chief I'll never forgive you those tear and stink bombs."

"Well, you shadowed my house and entered it unlawfully."

"Well, I found a lipstick—" "Belonged to the nurse I had looking after a sick friend of mine," the chief lied glibly.

But Flynn only grinned ferociously. "I found stained bandages, too."

"Well, the pot can't get nowhere by culling the kettle black," McNamara decided. "Clear out!"

"Give me the money and I'll lay off."

But Dan McNamara shook his head. "I know your kind, Pat. There's no sense wasting good money on you because you won't stay bought. Clear out, I tell you."

So Flynn cleared out, carrying with him infinitely more respect for his chief than he had heretofore entertained. Well, some day he'd collect heavy interest on that two hundred and fifty dollars.

The last patient had left Stephen Burt's office for the day and the ever watchful Lanny had locked the office door.

"Tired, Stevie?" she queried anxiously, as he loaded his pipe.

"No, of course not," he replied abruptly. "What have I done to be tired?"

"Well, you had another session with that terrible Mrs. Merton."

"She doesn't weary me any more. She merely excites my sympathy. Still sleepless, of course, and still bothered about her poor devil of a husband. She's had detectives on his trail for a month. They've cost her ten dollars a day each and they haven't discovered anything to Merton's discredit."

"It's about time for Mrs. Merton to commence hearing voices of sorts," Lanny commented dryly. "Highball, Stevie?"

"Yes, thank you, Lanny," he said, and deluged Lanny with his sunny smile. "Yes, Mrs. Merton is hearing voices. Her first husband who is dead keeps whispering through space to her. He's trying to tell her how sorry he is. I understand he made a dirty will."

"He would—if he had any common sense. What a poor, beaten devil Merton is! He hasn't the courage of a mouse."

"What can he do, Lanny? His wife is unbalanced, but if he swears out a warrant charging her with insanity, she'll snap out of her lunacy. Mrs. Merton isn't sufficiently insane to be incarcerated. And she's a beautiful woman, well-to-do, respectable. Merton couldn't get to first base on an insanity warrant."

"Then why doesn't he divorce her on grounds of mental cruelty?"

"The man's chivalrous and profoundly sympathetic. Besides, he hasn't any witnesses to prove a charge of mental cruelty. And he can't run away from her, because he has a thriving business he may not abandon. I told her again today not to come to my office any more; that I could do nothing for her; that she was a nuisance—and to try some other doctor. She went out in a rage."

Lanny jumped up. "Now who do you suppose that is knocking? Your office hours are plainly printed on the door."

"Oh, Lanny, don't be so hard-boiled. Let the patient in."

"Who's there?" Lanny shouted, angrily.

"Oh! So it's you, is it? I knew you were there," the voice of Dan McNamara boomed.

Lanny unlocked the door. "Lucky for you you're not a nut, Dan. Stevie and I are just pinning one on."

"I'll join you, if that's the case," McNamara proffered his huge hand, that resembled nothing so much in life as a bunch of bananas. "Howdy, Medico."

He planted himself in the visitors' chair.

"You have news of Nance Belden," Stephen challenged.

"Gobs of it, Doctor."

Lanny entered with a highball. "I had a letter from Nance yesterday. Dan, she's in Paris. Can you beat that?"

"I can," McNamara replied coolly. "She's got an apartment at twenty-seven Rue St. Honore, with a cook and a maid, and a chauffeur who drives her around in a Citroen car. And she's having her picture painted."

"She's written you, too, then?"

"Devil a line. I have my information from the prefect of police of Paris."

"Dan, you're marvelous!"

"What's more, Lanny, she's living with her normal personality."

"How do you know?"

"She registered as required by law, under her real name of Penelope Gatlin."

"Get Over to Paris as Quick as You Can," McNamara Commanded.

lin. I've known her name since the day after her escape from San Quentin."

McNamara proceeded to relate the tale he had previously related to Stephen, who had neglected to retail it to Lanny. "Well, if this isn't a bit of a tale, Dan!" she said.

"Does it beat four news, Lanny?"

"Beats it by a mile, although while she was at my house she told me as much about herself as she could remember."

"This morning," McNamara continued, "the president of the Security Trust company telephoned me that the girl's mother had called him up to ask if Penelope had been cashing any checks lately. The banker gathered that the mother has a notion her daughter's dead. She doesn't like the idea of having to wait seven years to have the girl declared officially dead before she can lay claim to Penelope's estate."

"Did you find out the name of her mother?" Stephen asked.

"Oh, yes. She's married again, you understand. Naturally she didn't get any information out of the banker. He's on to her, and it was none of her business whether Penelope has been cashing checks or not."

"Get the girl's case record, Lanny," Stephen commanded. "What is her mother's name, Chief?"

"Mrs. Rudolph Merton."

"She's a patient of Stevie's," Lanny yelled. "She's such a nut the sight of her chases her."

Stephen finished writing and laid down his pen. "I told you, Lanny, that Mrs. Merton wasn't insane enough to be confined."

"Guess I've got Lanny's news button."

after all, Stephen. This Mrs. Rudolph Merton is the girl's foster-mother."

"Hooray! Hooray! Hooray!" cried Lanny. "How do you know? Did the banker tell you?"

"No. I dug the information up myself."

"Why? How?"

"Why? I wanted to investigate the girl's fortune. So yesterday I had a copy of the will and a copy of the appraisal of the estate made at the courthouse in San Jose and sent up to me. Gatlin stated in the will that he left all of his estate to his beloved adopted daughter, Penelope Gatlin. At the time of his death his estate was worth practically half a million dollars and has since doubled in value. Nance Belden is a lost heiress."

"Not wholly lost," Stephen reminded him. "There are times when she remembers who she is and that she has money."

"She doesn't know anything about her mother," Lanny declared. "I asked her, but she could tell me nothing. And she was Penelope Gatlin when I asked her."

"There is a reason for that," Doctor Burt's scientific mind was already racing along this new trail. "Penelope has had a wretched childhood; she knew nothing but unhappiness up to the time she received the shock that threw her mental gears out of mesh. She hated her mother with a terrible hatred. Feared her, probably. Then she made up her mind to forget her mother. And the will to forget was so strong that she succeeded."

"Not only did she forget her mother but her entire past life as well. Well, she ran away, and she'll never find her way back until she acquires sufficient courage to face the old issues again, surmount them and defeat them."

"But is that possible?" McNamara asked.

"Quite. She will have to have assistance and the sort of treatment I think I can give her, and she must have assurance that never again will she be subjected to the old unhappiness. By the way, I wonder if Penelope was a love child. Have you looked up her parentage, Dan?"

"I haven't. Can't you ask Mrs. Merton about the girl?"

"I suppose I could. But if lunacy ran in the family of her father or mother, I'm not going to bother with Penelope."

"If you decide to take her on, we'll have to get her back into this city," McNamara mourned, "and Flynn will pick her up."

"We'll fix her nose first," Lanny said. McNamara beamed upon her. "Her criminal photographs and Bertillon measurements are gone to glory, Lanny. What did Penelope say in her letter?"

"Not a great deal. She said, among other things, that after leaving my house she found two hundred dollars. So she returned it."

"Give me that two hundred, Lanny. Stephen, our little thief is honest."

"As one personality she would remember, you gave her two hundred dollars, but as the other she couldn't remember who gave it to her," said Lanny.

"Get over to Paris as quick as you can," McNamara commanded, "or she'll be stealing the Eiffel tower."

"Stephen can't spare me," said Lanny.

"Stephen can spare you," he decided. "It's got to be," McNamara urged. "Nance fled the town with a letter of credit for ten thousand, but she'll go through that like a weasel through a rat hole. Take a bankroll with you, Lanny, and when you get there take charge of her funds."

"And have her nose done over while you're there," Stephen urged.

"There's a hitch," said Lanny. "The girl evidently got a passport in New York."

"Not in New York. In San Francisco," McNamara interrupted.

"Well, will a strange photograph on her passport get her back into the United States?"

"She can go to the American consul in Paris, and present proof that she's the same woman with a different nose," Stephen said.

"She'll do nothing of the sort," McNamara was very emphatic. "When her trail is lost it will be lost forever. Lanny, when you have that new pose built for the girl, have half a dozen new passport photographs of her taken, and send them and her passport to me. The seal of the United States of America is on the passport and covers a part of the photograph. I know a man that'll make me a seal that would fool the American eagle himself. We'll fit it down over the old seal and stamp the new photograph. Then I'll send it back to you—and may God have mercy on my soul, for you can blackmail me for that the longest day I live," Dan cried.

Naming the U. S. A.

The name United States of America is really an evolutionary product, a name which began to develop as soon as the colonies banded themselves together, not a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Some of the old local coins refer to the "Unity States of America." The Declaration of Independence asserts, "that these united colonies are and of right ought to be free and independent states." It also speaks of them as the United States of America. So do the Articles of Confederation and Constitution. The "authority" by which the name is used is that of the people, as delegated to the Continental congress and the other bodies which shaped the form of our government.

CALIFORNIA News of the Week

In conjunction with the annual Woodland flower show, an attractive garden contest was held. A cup was awarded by the chamber of commerce to the housewife having the most presentable garden.

Many vacancies exist in the California Civilian Conservation Corps, according to Corps Administrator Dayton E. Jones. The quota for this state is about 23,000.

Hopes of California pioneering in labor reform by adopting the 30-hour week were killed when the Epic-Democrat bill providing these hours was defeated after a long Assembly debate, the vote being 47 to 26. Crippling of business, labor and wages was given as the chief reason for the measure's downfall.

Because of his "boastful" statements that he could control legislation, Lobbyist Nathan J. Elliott has been barred from appearing before any State Senate committee or in the Senate chamber during the remainder of the session. The Senate has adopted a motion to this effect.

A time bomb, planted on the loading platform of a large oil refining company at Martinez, exploded near midnight and awakened the entire city. The bomb burst about 50 yards from two huge storage tanks filled with gasoline and oil. Little damage was done. The occurrence was believed to have been an outgrowth of the tanker strike.

Ten-gallon hats and orange silk shirts were fashionable men's attire during the week preceding Red Bluff's annual Round-up, which was held April 20 and 21. A kangaroo court met daily to fine those who did not wear some bit of wild west clothing. Many world famous cowboys and cowgirls took part in the big rodeo.

"The program is weak, not the children," declared Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction, addressing 700 California educators at the Berkeley conference of state's secondary school principals, while discussing the California school system. "Children are not work shy," he continued. "They are interest shy." He added that there was no room for isms in public schools today.

The 19-ton Clipper ship of the Pan American Airways blazed the trail for a commercial air line between the United States and China as it negotiated the first lap of its epochal flight from Alameda to Hawaii in 17 hours and 47 minutes, 13 minutes ahead of schedule and setting a new record from the U. S. to Honolulu. Aboard the huge 69-foot long craft was a crew of six, 3,000 gallons of gasoline and 10,000 pieces of mail.

Steps are being taken to amend the law to prevent repetition of such tragedies as the "mistake hangings" of Rush Griffin, Los Angeles Negro. The Legislature is considering an amendment to a bill which would require the death warrant to carry notification of appeal, if such appeal is contemplated or has been made. This notification will automatically stay execution. Warden James B. Holohan is conducting a thorough investigation into the mistake.

Although there were fewer men employed in California in March, 1935, than during the same month last year, more money was being paid in wages. Employment continued to show small gains, however, in March over February of this year. A survey of 1024 concerns showed 130,002 employees at work, drawing $3,177,128 weekly, average pay per worker per week being $24.44. The figures were issued by A. L. Nolan, state labor commissioner.

Colorado River Aqueduct construction forces have started work on the first of 62 miles of a large canal which will form a part of the 242-mile aqueduct of the Los Angeles metropolitan water district. The canals are capable of carrying a billion gallons of water daily, having a width of 55 feet, a bottom width of 20 feet and a depth of 10 feet, 2 inches. The canal is to be of reinforced concrete construction.

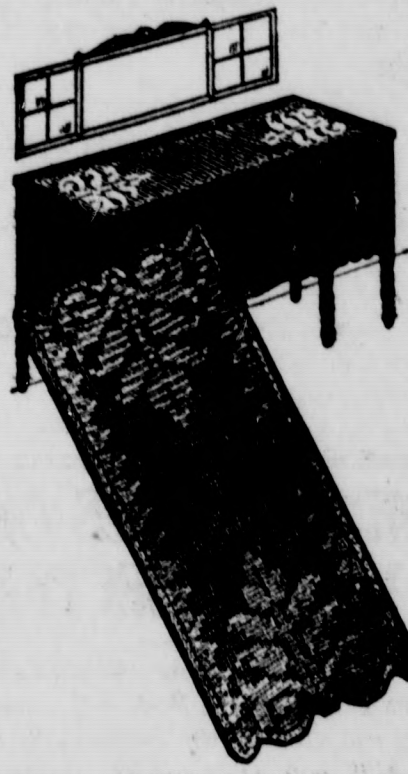

Influenced by the unexpected premium offered in the sale of the 3 1/2 per cent $24,000,000 block of unemployment relief bonds, the advisory bond finance committee of the California war veterans has authorized the sale of $5,000,000 worth of state veterans' welfare bonds at 3 per cent interest, the lowest rate ever set for a veteran bond block. The advisory committee is headed by Governor Frank Merriam, and the block is a part of the $30,000,000 issue voted last November for purchase of homes and farms for California veterans.

At San Pedro, Stockton and Martinez renewed outbreaks of violence have been reported as the oil tanker strike continues. A steamship company watchman at San Pedro had to be sent to the hospital following an attack. Truckloads of grain were overturned at Stockton and the bags split open.

Madam Boop-Boop-a-doo, otherwise known as Helen Kane, has returned to California for two reasons. First, she will take part in pictures; second, she will obtain a Reno divorce from Max Hoffman Jr.

MANY USES FOR CROCHET SCARF

By GRANDMOTHER CLARK

Here is a very practical scarf that is easy to make and costs so little. It's made with the large filet stitch, is very lacy and can be used as a decorative cover on many articles in the home. When using a number 5 steel crochet hook and number 15 cotton, the scarf will measure about 12 by 34 inches when finished. Buffet set and chair set to match this scarf were shown a few weeks ago.

This package, No. 707, contains sufficient cream color Mountain Craft crochet cotton to complete the scarf, also instructions, black and white diagram for easy counting of meshes, and a crochet hook. Write our crochet department enclosing 40 cents for the complete package, No. 707, or send 10 cents if you want the instruction sheet with diagram only.

Address Home Craft Co.—Dept. B—Nineteenth and St. Louis Avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

When writing for any information enclose a stamped addressed envelope for reply.

LARGE BOSTON COMPANY IS NOW IN SHEEP CREEK

North American Mines Has Taken Over Gold Belt As One More Investment

The following interesting news is gleaned from the Vancouver Sun of recent date:

Signaling one of the most important developments in the recent history of the Sheep Creek district, a deal has been negotiated by A. E. Jukes and Co., Ltd., between North American Mines, Inc., of Boston, and Gold Belt Mining Company whereby the latter's property will be brought under operating control of the powerful Boston company. If the contemplated program of development is carried out, it will mean an expenditure in excess of $215,000.

Grattan Lynch, engineer for North American Mines, Inc., at a recent examination of the property was impressed by the showing on the property, which spans the Reno, Nugget and Motherlode quartzite belts and lies between proven Reno and the Queen mine of Sheep Creek Gold Mines.

Under terms of the deal, which has been approved by Gold Belt directors, subject to ratification by shareholders at a meeting to be held this month, Gold Belt's capital is to be increased from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 shares, the additional shares to be taken down by North American Mines, Inc., as funds are expended. This will bring Gold Belt's authorized capitalization to approximately the same level as those of Sheep Creek Gold Mines and Reno Gold Mines.

The funds to be furnished by the Boston company will be used exclusively for development work and the acquisition of any additional properties to protect vein extensions, but none of Gold Belt's present treasury monies will be used for any such purposes.

While the Boston company, directed by mining men and including a group of large investors, has made a number of important investments in shares of successful Canadian mining companies, this, so far as known, is the first time it has taken over operating control.

The new management will leave in abeyance the announced plans for erection of a 50 ton mill, the expectation being that development will warrant a plant of considerably greater capacity.

At the annual meeting of Gold Belt, representatives of North American Mines, Inc., will be placed on the board of directors.

LESSON SERMON OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God will redeem my soul from the power of the grave: for he shall receive me." These words from Psalms comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, April 28, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Probation after Death." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's. For to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living" (Romans 14: 8, 9).

The following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "Earth's preparatory school must be improved to the utmost. . . . If the belief in death were obliterated, and the understanding obtained that there is no death, this would be a 'tree of life,' known by its fruits" (pp. 486, 426).

New Antenna Location

Even though it has a steel roof, your new car will be wired for radio. A glance under the running board will reveal a U-shaped tube, thoroughly insulated from all metal parts by rubber connections.

That is the newest and most generally used form of radio antenna now that the steel top has necessitated finding a new location.

MINING NOTES OF VARIOUS SECTIONS

C. F. Shield, general manager of the Palmer Creek Mining Co., has returned from a winter spent in California and, accompanied by his wife and children, left for Hope via Moose Pass to get things in shape for the coming season. The Palmer Creek Mining Company ground was operated a number of years ago by a St. Louis group under the management of Gus Seiffert, well known Nomeite, but at that time was not a paying proposition. Seiffert installed quite a camp, but returns were not satisfactory and the ground was allowed to lapse. Last year, with a crew of twenty men, Shields moved almost 300,000 yards of gravel, and while a great deal of the yardage ran no more than 18 cents per yard, he made the operation show a profit, and this year, with the price of gold substantially increased, hopes to do a great deal better. The property is well equipped with modern hydraulic machinery, and under the efficient management of Shields should yield good returns.

Charles J. Dumbolton, who has been prospecting and mining in most of the camps of the North, has left for Anchorage, from which point he plans on flying into the scene of the placer find he made late last fall. Just before he sailed he said: "I'm headed out on my last stampede, and I figure this is a good one. I went in last fall and found what I consider good pay, or at least good prospects, on a creek near the head of the Nushagak River. Now I'm headed back. I have a good outfit that I will have shipped to Dillingham on the first boat—a hydraulic outfit with plenty of pipe, a giant and all that I consider necessary to take out some money. Of course, I have not had time yet to determine either the richness or the extent of the pay, but from what I saw it looks good to me. Anyway, I hope to be out this fall with some news of a new strike on the North, and if it is not that—well, I guess I'll give up stampeding."

Official announcement has been made of completion of arrangements between Premier Gold Mining Company, the big Portland Canal, dividend payer, and B. C. Silver Company, by which the latter's property, which adjoins Premier, is to be developed through the latter's workings and use of its plant on a fifty-fifty basis, thus prolonging the life of the big operation for at least a decade.

Island Mountain Mines Company, Ltd., operating across Jack of Clubs Lake from Cariboo Gold Quartz Company, Cariboo district, reports recovery of $50,400 in March, with gold figured at $35 an ounce. This is approximately $9000 above the previous record of $41,242 in January.

F. P. Burden, former agent general for British Columbia in London, has been appointed field engineer for Lord Verulam's $1,000,000 hydro electric project, which is now being pushed to supply mines in the Cariboo country. The company, known as the Cariboo Development Company, will harness power in the Swamp River. As heavy snow still lies on the ground, work has so far been of a preliminary nature. A good deal of exploration will be necessary before a site can be selected. Roads are now under construction. First unit of the plant will have 5000 horse power capacity.

The first annual report of Sheep Creek Gold Mines, operating the Queen Mine, Sheep Creek Camp, Nelson district, covers balance sheet up to the end of last year, with reports of president and superintendent up till the middle of March of this year. The company was incorporated in November, 1933, part of the consideration for the Queen group being 600,000 fully paid shares, of which 380,000 shares are held in escrow. Other considerations are $100,000, payable by royalty from production at the rate of 10 per cent net mint and smelter returns; $15,000 for title to Mid-night group, payable in installments, and $50,000 payable in installments for the Vancouver group.

Automotive travel between Fairbanks and Nenana may be possible in the future if the activities of the Nenana city council bring results. In a letter to the Fairbanks Chamber of Commerce by the municipal authorities of Nenana, a highway between the two towns is urged. With the cooperation of residents of Fairbanks, business men of Nenana hope to bring about favorable consideration of their project. That it would be to the advantage of both communities is apparent. The winter stage line formerly used between the two cities is thought to be the most practicable. Such a road could ultimately be extended to McKinley Park.

John Carlson, mayor of Cantwell and heavily interested in mines and merchandising in the Valdez Creek section, arrived in Anchorage from Seattle, where he has been spending a few months, and reports that there will be considerable activity in a mining way in the Cantwell country this year.

Advances of silver and the better lead outlook in London markets is reviving interest in silver lead mines of the Slocan district and elsewhere with a probability that the operation of several mines will be resumed soon. The representatives of a British firm, acting for Belgian smelters, has been in the district offering smelting contracts which show material improvement over local contracts. A contract has been signed for one mine and several more are under consideration.

Considerable interest in a lode mining way is now centering in the Valdez Creek section, opposite Cantwell, on the Government Railroad and north of Anchorage. The Alaska Exploration and Mining Company, which has a small quartz mill on the Denali Group, consisting of twelve claims on Valdez Creek, has had a crew working at development work during the past winter and believe that they have a great gold mine in the making.

A crew of thirty men, under the supervision of J. E. Amundson, has left Ketchikan for the Dolomi Mine with instructions to rush development with all possible speed and get the property ready for production in the shortest possible time.

The Seward Placer Corporation is the newest mining company to enter the Moose Pass gold district. Thirty men will be employed this season. H. S. Kawabe heads the company. Associated with him are Oscar Dahl and H. S. Balderston, Seward banker.

SOME QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Some Little Known Matters That Should Prove of General Interest

(By Maude Larue Ives)

Question: What is sesame?

Answer: Sesame, or Game Grass, is a perennial fodder grass found naturally in moist soil from Connecticut to Kansas and south to Florida and Texas. It endures drought, but is quickly killed by frost. From stout rootstocks its coarse, pithy, branching stems grow to a height of nine or ten feet. Its leaves about six feet long, resemble those of Indian corn. In midsummer it bears spikes of feathery, dark-purple flowers, topped with long orange colored antlers. Gama grass makes palatable hay, if cut when young, but the older stems are woody.

Question: Who was the first President's wife to be a college graduate?

Answer: Lucy Webb Hayes, wife of Rutherford B. Hayes, nineteenth president of the United States.

Question: Where is the largest delta in the world?

Answer: At the mouths of the most sacred rivers of India, the Ganges and the Brahmaputra. A network of dismal jungle and swamp is found here.

Question: Who was the first czar of Russia?

Answer: Peter the Great.

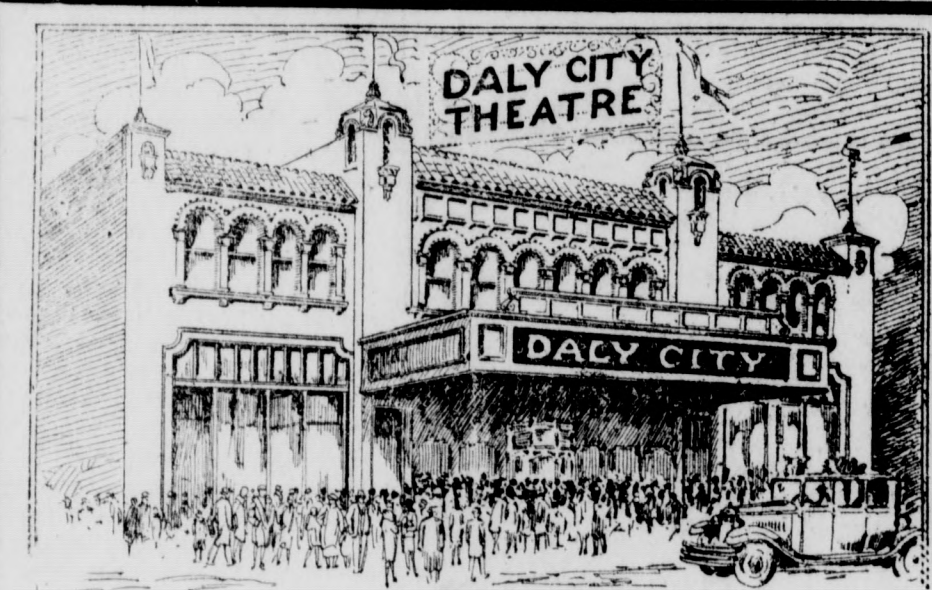

Question: For what is the pineapple leaf used?

Answer: A delicate fabric, the pina muslin of the Philippines is woven from the fibre of the larger leaves.

The New Tire Treads

Have you noticed the different designs in tire treads these days? They are that way for a good reason.

It is said the newest treads have a different pattern for the simple reason that they are designed not merely to provide higher resistance to the skidding tendency, but also to accomplish this end with greater silence than in the past. Not only do the tires perform their function more effectively, but with never a squeal or whine.

AUTO TAX LOAD IS HELD BARRIER TO RECOVERY

Measures Designed To Add To Burden On Owners Decried By Many

Any curb on the ownership and use of automobiles through further pyramiding of already burdensome taxes would directly affect the welfare of more than a quarter of a million Californians, says an authority in opposing pending proposals in the Legislature for an increased gasoline tax and other motor vehicle tax measures. Declaring that the car owner is already taxed to an extent that would be considered confiscatory if applied to other types of property, this authority discusses the probable effects of curtailed motor vehicle use on general state prosperity.

"According to the 1930 census, 158,136 Californians obtain their livelihood directly from motor vehicle manufacture, repair and operation, or oil field or refinery work, or gasoline and lubrication sales, or in street and highway construction, which is largely financed by taxation of the motorist," it is pointed out. "Also to be considered are a vast but unestimated number of persons engaged in retail car sales establishments, the manufacture and sale of a variety of materials and parts, and others whose work depends upon the automobile."

"In addition are the thousands who make their living less directly from motor vehicle use, but at the same time to an important extent, such as hotel, restaurant, resort and motor tourist camp owners and employees, retailers catering to the motoring public, and a veritable army of men and women largely dependent on the consistent and continued use of motor vehicles."

"That at least 250,000 Californians get their living from motoring activity is a conservative estimate. Every reduction in motor vehicle operation means just so much of their living taken away from these people."

HURT WHILE AT PLAY

Ed Peterson, 13 years of age, of Vista avenue, was returned to his home from the Villa Hospital, Tuesday evening of this week after being taken there to have a severe gash on his right leg dressed.

Young Peterson fell on a sharp object while running across a lot near his home, and cut a deep gash in his pedal extremity.

Are You a Safe Driver?

Nearly every automobile accident is the result of thoughtlessness of one form or another. To prevent these inexcusable tragedies of the highway everyone should be prepared for the unexpected. The safe driver is always alert and cautious. He adapts his speed to road and weather conditions and to the flow of traffic.

He is courteous and considerate of safety of others, particularly children and the aged. He does not cut in and out of traffic nor pass other vehicles on curves or hills. He keeps his brakes, tires, lights and steering gear right.

CANDIDATES ARE INITIATED INTO AMERICAN LEGION

Daly City Post No. 410, American Legion held its regular meeting on Wednesday evening. Seven candidates were initiated into the Legion by the presiding officers. Plans are being made for a picnic to be held jointly with Old Glory Post No. 2044 V. F. W. at Val Mar Park on Sunday, May 26.

On Saturday evening, April 20, San Bruno Squadron No. 409, Sons of the American Legion, initiated and installed Daly City Squadron No. 410. The post presented a beautiful gavel to the squadron which was made by Commander Trier.

There will be a social dance in Legion Hall tomorrow evening, Saturday, April 27. Good music and lots of fun. Don't miss it.

Record Church Attendance

Easter Sunday was a great day for the local church, Grace Church of the Nazarene. There were 285 persons in attendance by actual count at the close of the Sunday School hour. Old timers who have known the history of the church building, from the time it was erected say that the edifice was never so crowded before. The regular worship services, both morning and evening, had record attendances.

"The Friendly Church" and Rev. J. M. Gill, the pastor, wish to remind Daly City people that a standing invitation is extended to one and all to make this their church home. Come as you are—you are always welcome.

Those who enjoyed this delightful evening were: Mr. and Mrs. E. Maier, Mr. and Mrs. E. Romer, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cameron Sr., Mrs. M. Ray, Mr. E. Neagle, Mr. B. Pietry, Mr. C. Sheridan and the Misses P. Callan and R. Dunn.

CELEBRATES HER FOURTH BIRTHDAY

Ruth Davidson was hostess at a birthday party held at the home of her mother, Mrs. Virginia Davidson of Hanover street, last Saturday, honoring the child's fourth birthday.

The table was beautifully decorated with Easter bunnies and Easter baskets filled with candy eggs.

Ruth received many lovely gifts from her little friends.

Among those present were Baby Russell Nelson, Baby Janet Reynor, Bernice Gimovsky, Lanette MacNerney, May Ruth Frazier, Carl Frazier and Tommie Davidson, and Mesdames Nickie Pearson, Bessie Gimovsky, Alice Reynor, Lillian Nelson and Edith Frazier.

Broken Spring Cause

The commonest cause of broken spring leaves is undue looseness in the clips, those U-shaped members which hold the springs and axles together.

When the clips are loose the whole stress is concentrated on a small part of the spring.

HOME BALL CLUB OUTSTANDING IN GREAT VICTORY

Daly City Tanforan Pitcher
Twirls Best Game Seen
Here For Long Time

(By Al Gould)

The Daly City Tanforan nine at their best and the Virden Campfire team not nearly as good as they were during the Winter League. Meaning of course, the absence of the great Walter Lister, their former pitching ace, who is now twirling for the San Mateo Blues of the state league, and "Zeppy" Gantenbein, who is now the property of the Cincinnati Reds. There you have the story of Sunday's game in a nutshell.

Held to seven hits by Matty Sullivan, crack hurler of the local team, or the number of bingles yielded by Lister when he turned back the local team in the Winter League series, Jerry McCort and company did nothing more than provide the opposition that was necessary for a great game.

Whereas the local lads failed in the pinches with their willows in the AA series, they were making their hits Sunday at the Jefferson diamond. And the six runs they scored in the third, sixth and last inning were exactly three more than Sullivan allowed.

Harry Maloney did the hitting that decided the runs in the third inning. He slammed out a homer and chased De Camp across the plate ahead of him. In the sixth, Bennedetti singled and was sacrificed to second by Albrecht. Kondeff doubled, scoring Bennedetti, while Kirby doubled, scoring Kondeff. In their last time at bat, Joe Albrecht started with a homer; Kondeff doubled; Sullivan singled. Kondeff stopping at third and Matty taking second on the throw home; Kirby singled scoring Kondeff; but Sullivan was caught at the plate by a perfect throw home by Hailer, the center fielder.

CHRISTENING OF GRANDDAUGHTER

Shirley Dorothy, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Simon of Mangles avenue, San Francisco, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Riddell of Templeton avenue, Daly City, was christened Easter Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian Church at Van Ness avenue in San Francisco by Rev. Alfred Samuel Nickless.

After the services Mr. and Mrs. Riddell entertained a group of relatives and friends at dinner at Lucia's Cafe, having as guests Mr. and Mrs. Walter Simon and daughter Shirley, Mr. Carl Simon, Mr. and Mrs. John Gressler and children, Ruth and Jack, Miss Sybil Riddell and Mr. Ralph Riches.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Farrington of San Mateo are receiving congratulations of their friends on the birth of a daughter, born Tuesday, April 16, at Lane Hospital in San Francisco. Miss Mildred Mansfelt of Liebec street.

Mr. E. Templin of Peoria street is expected to return to his home today, Friday, after being confined for the past week in the Marine Hospital in San Francisco, where he underwent treatment for stomach trouble.

Miss Pat Chase, daughter of Mrs. Ella Chase of Lomita Park, who has many friends in Daly City, left last week for Washington, D. C., where she will be employed by the government in the treasury department.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wettstein and family spent Easter Sunday as the dinner guests of Mr. Band Mrs. John Kaelin of Waller street, San Francisco.

The automobile of Louis Donati of San Diego avenue ran away from in front of his home, where he had it parked, Tuesday afternoon of this week. The car damaged shrubs in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Corveto of 666 San Diego avenue, where it came to an abrupt stop.

ANNUAL SOCIAL OF SEVENTEENTH

Pan-American Idea Will Be Strongly Featured By District Body

Representatives from the forty-two units comprising Seventeenth District, C. C. P. T., met Tuesday afternoon in the Burlingame library, with Mrs. R. L. Holder, third vice-president, when an elaborate program was planned for the annual gala social fete, the "International Fair," to be held in San Mateo junior college gymnasium, May 17.

This year the Pan-American idea is to be strongly featured, and cowboys, dons, scouts, courageous folk in picturesque fashions of covered wagon days, Indians, Boston tea party sponsors, and nice grandmothers with will-filled cookie jars, are expected to aid in making the day a colorful one.

A group of talented children will perform authentic peasant dances and many accordion solos are promised. The San Mateo Junior College Mothers club, under the direction of Mrs. M. Miner, president, will form the committee in charge of the main decorations of the college gymnasium where the affair is to be held.

Mrs. Fred Stumbles will be in charge of the white elephant booth, the proceeds of which are to go direct to student aid.

P. T. A. ers by the hundreds come from all over San Mateo County each year to attend this fete, the object being to promote friendly relations and to help carry on Parent-Teacher activities.

The following officers are to be installed by the San Mateo Junior College Mothers' club at the meeting to be held Thursday afternoon, April 25, at 2:30 o'clock in the guild hall at St. Matthew's, San Mateo:

Mrs. L. H. Rankin, president; Mrs. G. W. Elder, vice-president; Mrs. F. Ulrich, secretary; Mrs. R. K. Abercrombie, treasurer; Mrs. H. L. Hoover, historian; Mrs. F. M. Stanger, parliamentarian; and Mrs. M. Miner, auditor.

Heads of various student clubs will appear on the program giving an outline of projects. The A. Cappella choir, under the direction of Frederic Roehr, will render selections.

All members are urged to be present.

WEEKLY BULLETIN

By Chief A. P. Chesney

I called attention two weeks ago to the overloading of an electric wire being dangerous. I would also call your attention to another danger which a great many amateur electricians are guilty of fostering; that is loose connections in wiring, as soon or later they will cause an arc and start trouble.

Another very bad practice that we often observe is the installing of copper pinions or pieces of wire instead of replacing a burned out fuse with fuses that are made for that purpose.

The fuses in your circuit box are placed there for the purpose of protecting your fixtures and appliances in case of overload and if you replace them with something else that will not blow out you are taking chances on having everything burned out and also losing your insurance.
